AMUSEMENTS.

for the Remainder of the Week.

A new drama of western life, called "On the Frontier," was produced at the National to their father through the efforts of a scout, "Jack Osborne." It is brimful of good comedy, catchy songs and dances, while both Mr. Hardle and Miss Von Leer have invested the play with as much dramatic art as possible. They are clever artists and have the support of a very proncient company. The stage setting is above the average, as are the costumes and properties.—Philadelphia Press.
